

Dear Jinx,

I know we don't always see eye to eye, but there's something about your chaotic spirit that I can't help but admire. You bring a spark to the madness that keeps things interesting, and I love how you embrace the chaos without hesitation.

Just remember, while you're blowing things up and having your fun, there are times when we need to stick together. We're a team, and that means watching each other's backs, even when things get crazy.

Let's keep shaking things up, but don't forget: I'm here to keep you grounded when the chaos gets a little too wild.

Stay explosive, but stay safe too!

With a punch and a smile,

Vi